CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT DRAFTING, PROCUREMENT & PROJECT DELIVERY

In the construction industry, effective contracting is critical to ensuring that projects start and end on time and on budget. It is also essential to provide companies with the legal protections and remedies they need in the event that something does not go according to plan. Our lawyers have deep experience in all aspects of construction contract drafting and the overall procurement process, and we continue to work with our clients throughout the project delivery process so that we can provide advice and representation as and when legal issues arise.

Areas of Focus

- Drafting and negotiating contracts for large-scale horizontal and vertical construction projects on behalf of developers, owners, contractors, subcontractors, suppliers, sureties, and construction and real estate industry professionals.
- Assisting clients with the preparation and review of bids for professional services, contracting, subcontracting, supplier arrangements, and other procurement needs.
- Advising clients during the procurement process on issues ranging from bid selection to liability risk mitigation.
- Negotiating change orders, amendments, and other contractual modifications prior to and during construction, and proactively addressing potential conflicts throughout the contracting and construction processes.
